1. Create a new document. Create a new 8½" × 11" (21cm × 28cm) document for full-page graphics. For best results, set the background color to black in the Colors dialog box.
2. Use the Hand tool to trace the first image. Set the Hand tool to be a multistroke, and then pull the edge of the image you want to use for the thumbnail. As a guide, trace the edge of the image for the thumbnail. You can adjust the size of the image by using the Lasso tool. You can also adjust the image's contrast and brightness in the Adjustments panel (Window → Adjustments).
3. Use the Brush tool to paint an area of black over the traced image. Paint a black background over the traced image using the Brush tool. Then, reduce the opacity of the Brush tool's color box to about 40%.
4. Create a layer mask. Hold the Shift key while painting. This makes the image appear beneath the original layer of the image. Drag the Brush tool up to the layer mask icon in the Layers panel.
5. Use the Pen tool to add an additional drawing to the image. Create a new path of a few points by pressing the Pen tool and creating a few points, and then color it black to make it slightly transparent.
6. Paint over the path with the Brush tool. Paint the black shape in the black background with the Brush tool and reduce the opacity of the brush to lessen the color's impact.
7. Use the Rectangle tool to draw a box for the photo, and then color it black. Draw a rectangle over the thumbnail and color it black.
8. Copy the thumbnail in the Library. Select the thumbnail layer and make a copy by pressing Ctrl+J (+J on the Mac).
9. Select the other thumbnail and paste it in the new thumbnail image area (Window → Images). The pasted thumbnail should appear below the first one.
10. Move the thumbnail image below the black rectangle by dragging it to the left or right. Now the thumbnails appear to be set below the rectangle with the black background.
11. Return the thumbnail to its original position.

DLC for Super Smash Bros. Various sources shared this information, not only on Reddit but also on the Super Smash Bros. official forums and on the Xbox. This comes as great news for the many people who were overjoyed at seeing that the game was not going to have 16 characters like Smash Bros. Melee was the only Smash Bros. before Super Smash Bros. Brawl. For those that remember, there was a fan-made character who was named Nathan Drake, or more commonly, Nathan Drake in a suit. Originally, the character was an easter egg, but was later made into an official character in the game. However, many people were unhappy with the character being official in the game, knowing that Nintendo would not be releasing new Drake outfits, like how the character was introduced in Melee. However, Nintendo did not fulfill the demand, instead leaving the character being fan-made. It looks like all of this is going to be a thing of the past as soon as the DLC release for Smash Bros. Ultimate that will most likely include another Nathan Drake alongside the original. However, it looks like Nintendo still has not made any official announcement about the new character, but it looks like they will be releasing this at the E3 in June. Providing guideline-based pathways to palliative care: a workshop curriculum for hospice and home care provider members. To explore the feasibility of developing a workshop curriculum for hospice and home care providers, using this evidence-based program as an example. An analysis of the components of a workshop curriculum has been performed. A workshop curriculum might enable providers to address the complex factors surrounding the provision of end-of-life care by improving the existing tools and resources, and by providing "hands-on" exposure to the curricular content. Hospice- and home care-providers can enhance their clinical practice, and improve their communication skills, by participating in this evidence-based, workshop-curriculum model. A workshop curriculum for hospice and home care providers is feasible. The proposed workshop curriculum encourages teamwork, team communication, and education within an organized structure. Participants can learn at their own pace and can attend the workshop for multiple sessions. This workshop will enable the acquisition of new knowledge and skill development, and will enhance provider knowledge and ability to cope with end-of-life care. By facilitating teamwork, provider ability to respond to the needs of the dying is enhanced.
