I have date like this in JavaScript: var mydate=2011/9/12 15:15:40 I need the day which returns is Mon, is there any way to achieve this? A: Get the day using getDate function getDate(date) { return date.getDate(); } Then get the month using getMonth function getMonth(date) { return date.getMonth(); } And finally get the year using getFullYear function getYear(date) { return date.getFullYear(); } getDate(new Date()) returns "1" getMonth(new Date()) returns "9" getYear(new Date()) returns "2011" For example var d = new Date(); var dd = new Date(d.getFullYear(), d.getMonth(), d.getDate()); var result = ["Mon", "Tue", "Wed", "Thu", "Fri", "Sat", "Sun"] console.log(result[getDate(new Date())]) console.log(result[getMonth(new Date())]) console.log(result[getFullYear(new Date())]) Notes You can also use getDate (available in browsers since IE9) and getUTCDate (if you need a date only) to get the components you need in a simpler way A: For date in your format: var d = new Date(2011,9,12,15,15,40); getDate(): Number - Day of month. The day, counting from the zero-based date, for the full-date represented by the Date object. (A negative date-value is used for a value prior to the minimum date.) document.write(d.getDate()); // returns Mon

I have a specific date that I need a loan for, and I want a payday loan. I'm looking for a lender who is available on my payday loan dates (mine are the 4th, 8th, 12th, and 16th). I'm not looking for anything but the cheapest one. I'm not looking for a credit card, and I'm not looking for anything that is linked to me. In short, I need the cheapest loan I can get that will work on my schedule, and will have me pay it off as quickly as possible. Does anyone have any tips? A: It really depends on what you want. For one thing, bank loans require a full day of work at the office and basically having to walk into your bank. Payday loans generally can be a very expensive short term solution, especially for people with bad credit. One thing I can tell you for sure is that if you are using a typical online payday loan, you are almost certainly getting the worst of both worlds. You are paying a premium to a financial company to give you money when you don't really want it, at a time when you have the least money, and you are paying them lots of interest in the process. I would recommend a direct transfer from your bank account. Most people pay their mortgage that way, and it's convenient for you. It's not a loan, it's your money. What kind of payday loan would you like? A direct transfer? A one month loan, and you need to pay it back? Whatever you want, it's just money.
