As for swfdec, it runs in'Blue collar' under Obama, but White House views new mid-term maps By The Associated Press | December 22, 2013 | 1:34 PM EST HOUSTON (AP) — The night before the vote on two new congressional maps, President Barack Obama praised some Republicans for doing their part to "help some of our struggling neighbors." But at his own Jan. 14 fundraiser, at which he praised the importance of the Senate race in North Carolina and the "Blue Collar" vote to keep Democrats in the House, Obama said that he was "neutral" in the North Carolina and Indiana contests because of the state-level effect of the November elections. The candidates were already dealing with changing maps, and Obama's comments appeared to represent his own view on North Carolina. While Democrats kept their control of the House, Republicans have taken over the state legislature and removed the base for Democratic Gov. Pat McCrory. North Carolina's U.S. Senate race is a showdown between former secretary of state and former state legislator Elizabeth Dole and U.S. Sen. Kay Hagan, a Democrat. "It was a decisive victory. But having said that, it's always important to remember what's happening in states. This is the first time they've gotten legislative power," Obama said. "And what happens in your state legislature is going to have a big impact in North Carolina," he added. "And even in a presidential election, you can have an impact on the presidential election if you have
