I'm still wondering how I could do that, but Photoshop is ready to drop in the supplied room (the Computer Room in your basement or large attic) and detect the file and do for you what you asked for. I'm impressed. It even includes a template and a few of the tools you'll need. Want to enlarge a photo? Yep, there - or if you want to keep the image on the screen, zoom in as far as it wants to go. Want to crop? The program does it. Once it's done, you can save it, email it or post it on Facebook. It also displays photos that may not be there, so the process can be blind.
